

Abstract

The present invention relates to the use of phase change materials in devices for cooling electrical and electronic components.

098622 100001